Key Points

- Complete and accurate minutes must be kept at all official association meetings.
- A standard format should be followed using numbered and lettered sections.
- Minutes are a very important permanent record and serve as a legal document for antitrust, tax or other legal issues regarding meeting discussions and actions.
- Minutes are useful tools for association staff and leaders to determine the disposition of association business.
- Care must be taken by the recorder of minutes to ensure accuracy.
- Minutes serve as historical documents and should be preserved and placed in safe keeping.

Compiled from: Association Law Handbook, by Jerald A. Jacobs.

Minute Taking

Minutes Include:

- Type of meeting: Delegate, board, executive committee, program planning committee, etc.
- Name of assembly (Board of Directors, House of Delegates, Convention Assembly).
- Date, time and place of the meeting.
- Roll call: the names and titles of those present and absent.
- Approval of minutes of the previous meeting (with corrections as indicated).
- All main motions or motions to bring a main question again before the assembly (except any that were withdrawn) giving:
 - wording for each motion introduced, name of mover and seconded by;
 - summary of discussion around the motion;
 - action on the motion, including -- if it was temporarily disposed of-- any amendment and all adhering secondary motions that were then pending.
- All other motions that were not lost or withdrawn are noted.
- Time of adjournment.
- The approved/accepted minutes MUST be signed (see page9 to learn how to scan signatures):

Secretary

President

- Retain the original signed copy in permanent files or send to NSNA for safe-keeping.
- Attach all reports and documents.
- Published minutes MUST always be signed by both the president and the secretary.
- "Respectfully submitted" is unnecessary.
- If an election takes place, include a full report of all votes cast as shown by the tellers' report (attach copy of report to the minutes).
- During the meeting, if there are corrections to the minutes insert the corrections in the margin with a carefully drawn line around or through the subject matter corrected.
- A member may request that his vote on a motion be recorded in the minutes. If there is no objection, the chair directs the secretary to make the entry. If there is an objection, the chair puts the question to a vote and a majority vote will order the vote recorded.
- When the count has been ordered or voted by ballot, the number of votes on each side should be entered.

Important Points Concerning Minutes

- Minutes of a Board meeting are open for inspection by members.
- Members may authorize the board to approve the minutes of a meeting of the membership.
- Minutes may be corrected whenever the error is noticed, regardless of the time which has elapsed.
- When the word secretary is used, it always refers to the recording secretary, if there is more than one.
- The question is always on approving the minutes, not the secretary's report. The minutes are not the secretary's report.
- The approval of the minutes is usually done by general consent as follows: The Chair: "Are there any corrections to the minutes?" If there are none, the Chair says: "There being none, the minutes stand approved (or corrected) as written."
- The minutes of a closed meeting should not be read at a meeting open to the public and are marked "Confidential."
- If meetings are held weekly, monthly, or quarterly, the minutes are read at the beginning of the meeting, and should be approved at that time.
- If copies of the minutes have been sent to all those who were to attend the meeting, then it can be expected that members have read over the minutes prior to the meeting, and formal reading of the minutes can be dispensed with. Action to approve the minutes as written or submitted can be made at this time.
- If reading the minutes is dispensed with, and the minutes have not been distributed to members prior to the meeting, the minutes may be taken up later in the meeting when nothing is pending. Otherwise the minutes dispensed with will come before the next meeting before the reading of minutes of later meetings.
- The rules of the motion to dispense with the reading of the minutes are as follows:
 - It requires recognition
 - It requires a second
 - It is not debatable

Minutes of a convention business meeting should not be read at the next meeting unless it is desired for information, as it is too late to correct them. Copies should be available for those interested.

Duties of the Secretary at a Meeting

- The secretary keeps the minutes of the meeting.
- If the president and vice presidents are absent, unless otherwise indicated in the bylaws, it is the duty of the secretary to call the meeting to order and preside at the election of a chairman pro tem.
- Place in the minutes what was done by the assembly, not what was said or opinions expressed.
- The secretary should never make criticisms, favorable or unfavorable, in the minutes.
- The secretary is usually responsible for calling roll and determining whether or not a quorum is present.
- Accuracy of minutes has great significance since the minutes are the legal record of the association.
- If the association does not meet within a three-month period, the minutes should be read and approved before adjournment, or if this is not practical, the Executive Committee may be appointed to approve them.
- The secretary should always provide the presiding officer with the agenda for the meeting and a copy of the minutes (in some cases, the presiding officer will prepare the agenda and distribute copies to those attending the meeting).
- Copies of resolutions, motions, documents and recommendations should be printed exactly as originally submitted, with complete accounts of all action taken by the assembly in regard to the resolution or recommendation.

Motion Forms

To insure that the minutes will be most accurate, it is good practice to have a written confirmation of each motion form that is turned in, and then jot down the corresponding number in the appropriate place in his/her notes. Here is a suggested format for motion forms:

MOTION FORM
___ Board meeting ___ Membership Meeting
Name of Association: _____
Date: _____	Time: _____
No.: _____
I move that: _____

Moved by: _____	Seconded by: _____
Carried: _____	Defeated: _____

Sample Meeting Agenda

- Call to order (president or chairperson).
- Roll call (recording secretary) president declares quorum.
- Reading and approval of minutes by recording secretary (move to accept/approve).
- Report of the treasurer (move to accept).
- Reports from officers, directors, and standing committees (move to accept).
- Reports of special committees (i.e., ad hoc committee) (move to accept or approve actions as needed).
- Unfinished business.
- New business.
- Date, time, and place for next meeting.
- Announcements.
- Adjournment.

Meetings that Work

- Carefully plan agenda – seek input from committee/board members.
- Set meeting dates well in advance. Send agenda with call to meeting; include minutes, reports, and other documents for review.
- Start and end on time.
- Review agenda at beginning of meeting.
- Limit debate on issues.
- Encourage input from all members -- discourage domination.

- Chair should understand the role of facilitator: keep meeting moving and guide discussion. Although the chair may vote on any issue, the generally accepted practice is to vote only to break a tie.
- Make motions before discussion.
- Use simplified parliamentary procedure to conduct Board meeting; formal parliamentary procedure (See Roberts Rules of Order) for membership meetings.

Important

State associations are required to upload an electronic copy of approved, signed Board meeting and Annual Business Meeting minutes at www.nсна.me/nsnastatemin. Attachments (i.e. treasurer’s report; any written reports; etc.) must also be included with the minutes. State minutes are reviewed by the NSNA Board members and staff. A hard copy of all state minutes is printed by NSNA and is placed in the state association’s official archives that are maintained by NSNA. Minutes must be made available upon request during the NSNA annual Independent Audit and Internal Revenue Service to validate NSNA dues collection for state associations.

How to Produce Scanned Signatures

Here are instructions for how to get the scan signatures. As we work with it more, we might discover some more straight forward method for doing this, but this will work for now as we test the process.

You should have a Microsoft Word file named Check Signature Template. This contains three text boxes. What is important is not the size of the boxes, but rather the proportion of the boxes. You could print this document out, put it on a copy machine, and reduce or enlarge the size and that would not matter. Note that by being a text box, a person’s position can be included.

Use the Imaging program found under Start /Programs /Accessories/ menu. Instructions for using creating the signature file:

1. Print out the Word document.
2. Get the signatures on the form. Make sure that NONE of the signature touches any of the lines to the text box. If you use a broad point pen it seems to do better.
3. Scan the page with the signatures.
4. When the scan preview is shown, block the text boxes with the signatures and save it as a bitmap file.
5. Open two instances of Imaging.
6. In the first Imaging window, open the bitmap file with the scanned signatures.
7. Select the 'Select Image' button (to the right of the Hand icon).
8. Block the entire text box just inside the lines of the box. That is, none of the lines to the text box is included in the area you are blocking. But the proportion is the same as the box itself.
9. Right click and select copy.
10. In the second Imaging window, select File / New.
11. The New Blank Document box comes up. On file type, select 'BMP'. Then on size, select Custom. Then set the Width and Height to something very small (like 0.1 inches). Then close the New Blank Document box.
12. In the second window, right click and select Paste. The 'Would you like the image enlarged?' message should come up. If it does not, you did not preset the size small enough, and you need to go back to the Page / Properties and set the window size smaller.
13. When the signature shows up in the second Imaging window, save it as a bitmap file.
14. Repeat steps for each of the signature in the first Imaging window. Be sure to safeguard scanned signature documents.

Correspondence

The secretary is usually responsible for all correspondence on behalf of the entire membership and/or executive board. Such correspondence should be typed with one copy going to the state association president, one for the secretary's files, and the original signed document to the person for whom it is intended. On occasion, it may be more appropriate to write the letter by hand rather than type it -- e.g., thank you letters, invitations. Special stationery for these purposes is usually in order.

Each officer is responsible for his/her own individual correspondence, and should send a copy of all his/her outgoing correspondence to the secretary and the president to be kept on file and to keep them up to date on what's happening.

One prerequisite for good communication is keeping an up-to-date mailing list of all state and school officers, and making sure all interested parties have a copy of this list. Officers should be instructed to notify the secretary immediately of any address changes, and given a current e-mail address of where the secretary can be reached. Copies of the current state and school mailing lists MUST be mailed or e-mailed to NSNA Headquarters. NSNA is to be notified when there are changes in Board member addresses, resignations and Board appointments. NSNA does not release state dues reimbursement checks until updated state board roster is provided immediately following annual elections.

How State Constituent Secretaries Work With NSNA®

The state association secretary has an important responsibility to maintain good communication between the NSNA Board and staff and the state and school boards. Specifically, the state secretary's duties to national are as follows:

State associations are required to upload an electronic copy of approved, signed Board meeting and Annual Business Meeting minutes at www.nсна.me/nsnastatemin. Attachments (i.e. treasurer's report; any written reports; etc.) must also be included with the minutes. State minutes are reviewed by the NSNA Board members and staff.

NSNA policy requires that state approved and signed minutes for the entire previous calendar year must be uploaded as described above by the first day of the NSNA Annual Convention. It is best when minutes are uploaded to NSNA immediately following approval and signature. Upload link: www.nсна.me/nsnastatemin. State associations must submit approved signed board meeting and annual membership business meeting minutes throughout the calendar year, but no later than at delegate credentialing.

NOTE: In states where electronic signatures are not acceptable by law, state associations must also submit one signed hard copy to the NSNA office. Upload link: www.nсна.me/nsnastatemin.

Important: Keep Board officer data up-to-date

- The secretary may be responsible for correspondence from the state association or state board as a whole to NSNA. All correspondence to NSNA should be addressed as follows:
